Join Population Explorer Chief Strategist and solo-founder, Kyle Weaver, for a discussion about his company’s early work to improve the accessibility of population and socio-economic data around the world.

Learn about the venture’s interesting beginnings, and the importance and global need for better population data in the humanitarian and business settings.

Kyle Weaver graduated from CSU with a Master of Finance in Spring 2016. In October 2016, he started working on Population Explorer under the guidance of two senior advisers in the field of GIS and International Development.

The Geospatial Centroid is committed to facilitating campus-wide education, outreach, and research in geospatial sciences.